

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR REMOTE FORM COMPLETION

Abstract of Disclosure

The present application describes systems and methods for composing documents using a digital pointing instrument. In further configurations, a user utilizes a pen to partially fill in a form and provide destination data whereby a forms processor adds additionally required information to the form in order to compose a complete form that is sent to the destination.

Figures